Temporary bikeway diversion while improvements are underway

From mid-2018 to mid-2019 the Bicentennial Bikeway between the Goodwill Bridge and area behind 1 William Street will be under construction.

This is the first phase of Queen's Wharf Brisbane upgrading more than one kilometre of riverfront between the Goodwill Bridge and Victoria Bridge as part of the 12 football fields of public space within the transformational integrated resort development.

When complete, the 500-metre section will be transformed to include a 3-metre-wide separated bikeway, with improved lines of sight and the removal of dangerous pinch points, and adjoining 2-metre-wide pedestrian path. In addition to this, a dedicated Mangrove Walk will be constructed on the river as a scenic walk for pedestrians.

To enable this construction to occur the bikeway will be temporarily closed from the Goodwill Bridge through to the back of 1 William Street (near the old ferry terminal no longer in use) for approximately 12 months. Working closely with traffic authorities, government stakeholders, QUT and near neighbours, a safe alternative temporary diversion will be in place from June 2018.

Temporary Bikeway Diversion

From June 2018, Bicentennial Bikeway users will be diverted along Gardens Point Road to connect between the Goodwill Bridge and Bicentennial Bikeway near Margaret Street.

Independent traffic studies and traffic engineering reports have informed the design for the alternative route and contributed to many safety improvements along Gardens Point Road. While the bikeway diversion is in place, the speed along Gardens Point Road will be reduced to 20km/hour as the road becomes a shared zone. Additional traffic signage and road markings will be applied including digital speed recognition warning signs.

To make the alternative route suitable for increased cyclist and pedestrian movements a number of improvements will be made to the existing pathway including increasing width and adherence to DDA compliance requirements.

The design also includes safety measures such as tapered corners for better line of sight, convex mirrors where vehicles exit car parks and clear shared pathway signage.

Access to the QUT CityCat terminal will remain open at all times.

Destination Brisbane Consortium is excited to be building a better, safer bikeway, Mangrove Walk that will showcase the river's edge and recreational activity park (Waterline Park) right on the river's edge.
